SUMMARY.

The labour leader Parks has been convicted at New York of extortion and of accepting money to terminate a strike.

Train robbers wrecked the Topeka (U.S.) express, precipitating an engine and four cars into a creek. Thirty persons were injured.

Fifty Italian men in Tripoli have been sentenced to 15 years' exile in Tripoli for bribery and extortion.

Mr. Alfred Lyttelton, in responding to an address from the Agents-General, expressed deep interest in the welfare of the colonies.

A number of business men in London have started John Bull and Sons' syndicate, limited, to deal exclusively in the products of the Empire.

It is intended to form subsidiary limited liability companies in all of the colonies.

Mr. Ritchie has appealed to the workers to make their hearts as iron against any proposal to tax food.

A palace is being built at Vladivostok as Admiral Alexiev's future residence.

Count Tizian has formed a Ministry in Hungary, and there is an end of the protracted military disputes.

Mr. Chamberlain estimates that a 10 per cent duty on certain foreign manufactured goods would yield nearly £15,000,000.

The Sultan of Morocco has evacuated Tetoua, and the Pretender is now master of northern Morocco.

The bulk of the Sultan's army is proceeding to Tripoli, there is the nearest Algerian port, to embark on French ships for Tangier.

At the instance of Scotland Yard, an Armenian named Krikorian, supposed to be an assassin of the murderer of M. Saccani, has been arrested in America.

President Loubet has read to the Council of Ministers on the 29th inst. a letter from the King of the Belgians, proposing a Franco-Belgian rapprochement.

Reinforcements are being effected on the Ovaia at 25 guineas per cent. at Lloyd's.

Mr. Shaw, Secretary of the United States Treasury, declared protection in a speech at Baltimore, pointing to Great Britain's adverse trade.

Mr. Shaw is in favour of subsidizing ships to capture the South American, African, and Pacific trade.

A revised copy of Mr. Chamberlain's speech on the suggestion of colonial competition with the motherland.

Frederators in Victoria are very optimistic as to the effect of Mr. Reid's tour.

Mr. Deakin will speak in Sydney on Wednesday.

Mr. Deakin describes as "calumnious" Mr. Reid's comments upon the circumstances surrounding Sir Edmund Barton's retirement from the Ministry.

Mr. F. G. Swift, who returned from England last week, expresses the opinion that Mr. Chamberlain's proposals will be accepted in a modified form.

The State revenue last month showed a decrease of £145,000 compared with the revenue for October, 1902.

The total receipts for the first four months of the current financial year show an increase of £24,472.

Miss Ada Crowley gave her first concert in Brisbane on Saturday night, and achieved a great success.

Dr. Ashton Thompson recommends that the results of every analysis under the Health Act should be published in the "Government Gazette."

CATHOLIC YOUNG MEN'S UNION.

Annual communion breakfast in connection with the Catholic Young Men's Society's Union was held this morning in St. Benedict's Hall, Aberdeen. There were present between 300 and 400 persons. The president of the union, the Rev. Fr. Dowling, presided. Archbishop Kelly ber of the leading officers of the unions sits at the main table. At the conclusion of several speeches were made. Then the union (Mr. H. Farrell) read the report, which was of an encouraging nature. Just during the year the number of societies with the union had increased from 13 to 24. Each society was in a flourishing condition. There were also being established new societies. The interclub debate competition the societies had been won by Lewisham, contest for the best essay on "Home Rule" was won by Mr. J. H. Moylan. The union's reference to the valuable services the Rev. Father Dowling as president of the union and the influence for good that he had exerted over the young men of the Church. This report elicited loud applause from the audience.

Mr. Kelly delivered his annual address. He was pleased to be with them again, and to extend his congratulations to them on the splendid union had made during the year. His hope for the young men of the Church, was that they would take advantage not only of the advantages of the State and Commonwealth, but also of the influence wrought in the weak places of their lives. These are the days through men celebrating the feast of all the saints. There were once no more than who the young men were. In fact, in some respects they made opportunities to cultivate Christians that they were Christians in the true spirit. A Christian a person must be a good soul must be ever ready to fight for the same. They must fight on and never turn back. Christianity was the ideal of good citizenship. A man of religion was sectarianism, not the sweet bee made honey, but the wasp like the bee, then sectarianism was like a wasp. From sectarianism the world went to the young men's societies was to establish one of the young men all that would tend them to sanctify themselves, and by true help to advance the peace and stability country. His advice to them was to follow precepts, to take as their motto "E-twelve months ago he told them that if wind were against them just to tack tails and wait. Let them not give up, a waiting game, and now after 12 months away he would say again in all humility that the tide and wind would change. In the let them gather up all their strength and

Father Dowling also delivered an address which votes of thanks were passed to the others who had assisted in the work of during the year.

During a vote of thanks to the Archbishop assistance he had rendered the young men chieftains, the president presented Archbishop a handsome gold pencil and pen case as the esteem in which he was held by the the union.

Brother Kelly in responding mentioned the was that day celebrating the thirty-first

BRITISH FISCAL POLICY.

LORD MORLEY.

A HESITATING POSITION.

DISSENTING CAUSE AND EFFECT.

LONDON, Nov. 1.

Lord Morley, Chairman of Committee of the House of Lords, speaking at a banquet on Friday night on the fiscal issue, said that although he differed from Mr. Chamberlain's proposals in some respects he differed with great diffidence. The position of the Government was somewhat difficult, he confessed, that of the second year by Mr. Chamberlain ripened the Government was prepared to reap the crop.

Frederate, Lord Morley continued, was one of the conditions under which their property had been created and maintained. The difficulty was to disentangle cause and effect.

It might be in some cases that retaliation was advisable, but he would like to know what mandate the Government wanted. A mandate to suppose that whenever they thought it impossible constitutionally.

If the Government produced a concrete case where retaliation was necessary doubtless the House of Commons would sanction that course.

Lord Morley said that he did not believe that anything had seriously injured home trade. He had no belief whatever that taxation on food would raise wages.

MR. E. W. BECKETT.

LIMITS OF THE SHEPHERD SPEECH.

LONDON, Nov. 1.

Mr. E. W. Beckett, M.P. (Conservative), speaking at a banquet on Friday night, said that he supported the Government within the limits of Mr. Balfour's speech.

He (Mr. Beckett) believed that the country dumping was in greater danger than the country on which goods were dumped. If the Government accepted Mr. Chamberlain's policy it would split the Unionist party.

A WINCHESTER MEETING.

CONDEMNATION OF CHANGE.

LONDON, Nov. 1.

The Earl of Portsmouth, in addressing a Liberal meeting at Winchester, said that Mr. Austen Chamberlain, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, would by his father's instruction prepare a budget in accordance with the wishes of the Unionist party.

The popular cry, continued Lord Portsmouth, was for a tax on the foreigner, but this was impossible. The country would certainly repudiate Mr. Chamberlain's proposals.

Lord Coleridge said that Mr. Chamberlain's proposals were crude, wild, and inhuman. "Let," he said, "Britons educate themselves. Let them work more and drink less."

A resolution was carried by the meeting with enthusiasm condemning the proposals of Mr. Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S GLASGOW SPEECH.

REVISED IN PRINTED FORM.

OBJECTIONABLE PORTION OMITTED.

LONDON, Oct. 31.

Mr. Chamberlain has issued his speech on the preferential trade campaign at Glasgow as a pamphlet in a revised form. The objectionable portion has been omitted.

The revised speech of Mr. Chamberlain at Glasgow states that a 10 per cent. duty on foreign manufactured and partly manufactured goods would probably yield the Exchequer nearly £15,000,000.

THE CORN LAWS REPEAL.

REMEMBRANCE OF THE EFFECT.

LONDON, Oct. 31.

Mr. C. T. Ritchie, addressing the members of the University of Aberdeen, in his office of Rector, yesterday, said, in reference to the repeal of the Corn Laws, brought relief to the workers make their hearts as of iron against the proposals to tax food.

JOHN BULL AND SONS.

LONDON, Oct. 31.

According to the "Daily Express," a number of city men, acting upon a statement in Mr. Chamberlain's speech to an overdo meeting at Newcastle, have registered a syndicate known as John Bull and Sons, Limited. The syndicate will deal exclusively in produce and products of the Empire.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S STATEMENTS CRITICISED.

A DEFENCE OF CORDEN.

LONDON, Oct. 31.

The freetrade press denies statements made by Mr. Chamberlain to the effect that there had been a decline in the earthenware, glass, and tinplate trades, and declares that the attacks made upon Corden that he was a "Little Englander" are unfounded, since Corden tried to get rid of the antiquated colonial system and not the colonies.

The freetrade press points out that Dr. J. S. Nicholson, Professor of Political Economy at the Edinburgh University, recently expressed the opinion at Edinburgh that the general evidence available made it probable that new food taxes would raise the prices by the full amount of the tax.

DEFENCE OF PROTECTION.

AN AMERICAN VIEW.

LONDON, Oct. 31.

Mr. L. M. Shaw, Secretary to the United States Treasury, speaking at Boston, defended the policy of protection, pointing to Great Britain's adverse trade balance of one thousand million dollars per annum as an example of the reverse policy.

Mr. Shaw said that the favored of the subsidizing of American ships to capture the South American, the African, and the Pacific trade.

Mr. L. M. Shaw, speaking before the National Association of Manufacturers, said that the United States at Chicago on September 2, gave expression to his view of the prosperity of the United States, and of the necessity of subsidizing shipping to develop trade to its extent.

Mr. Shaw said: "We are the most powerful people in the world because we produce more than we consume. We are the only people we sell abroad—about 10 per cent. of our net production, and the little we purchase abroad, 5 or 7 per cent. of our net consumption, constitute no challenge to the statement that our prosperity rests with ourselves. Unless our factories and workshops voluntarily close, or labour voluntarily refuses employment, or commerce voluntarily ceases, there is no occasion for alarm unless apprehension becomes epidemic and ultra-Conservative notions prevail. The immediate future holds as much that is real and good as the immediate past has shown us. I believe that our financial system will be improved by adding an element of elasticity. To secure the United States' share of the world's commerce, it is necessary to have a flexible and elastic financial system. At the conclusion, in response to an exhortation, she sang "Home, Sweet Home."

QUEENSLAND.

MISS ADA CROSBY'S CONCERT.

BRISBANE, Sunday.

Miss Ada Crosby gave her first concert in Brisbane last night. It was a grand success, and was presented with large numbers of female tributes. At the conclusion, in response to an exhortation, she sang "Home, Sweet Home."

It is probable that the judgment of the Full Court in the Colonial Sugar Refining Company v. The Minister of Finance, in which the Government was successful, will be the first occasion since his elevation to the Premiership that the Victorian orator will speak to a large audience, and the fact that his address is likely to be of an important character is certain to attract a large number of hearers.

FOREIGN IMPORTS.

A STATEMENT BY MR. CHAMBERLAIN.

DISCOUNTED BY SIR ROBERT GIFFEN.

LONDON, Oct. 30.

Sir Robert Giffen, the eminent statistician, has written a letter to the "Times," commenting upon Mr. Chamberlain's statement that there had been a great increase in foreign imports of articles of manufacture.

Sir Robert Giffen asserts that many qualifications to the statement are necessary. He states that a large proportion of the imports referred to are partly manufactured, really constituting raw material. He instances slates, stones, crude silk unwrought copper, and leather.

THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

WELCOME BY AGENTS-GENERAL.

LONDON, Oct. 30.

The Hon. A. Lyttelton, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, to-day received an address of welcome from the Agents-General of the Colonies, and returned a sympathetic reply.

The Hon. A. Lyttelton, in responding to the address from the Agents-General, expressed his sympathy for the welfare of the colonies, and the great pleasure it afforded him to hear of their progress. It was his earnest desire, he said, to do his utmost to promote their unity with each other and with the motherland.

THE MURDER OF AN ARMENIAN LEADER.

AN ARREST MADE.

LONDON, Oct. 31.

In connection with the murder of M. Sargis, the president of the Armenian Association at Nankin, the American police have, at the instance of Scotland Yard, arrested an Armenian named Krikoria, who is supposed to be an associate of the murderer. The charge laid against Krikoria is that of being a fugitive from justice.

NEW STEAMER FOR AUSTRALIA.

LONDON, Oct. 30.

The steamer Bombar, belonging to the Howard Smith Company, Ltd., was launched at Sunderland to-day.

The Bombar, the latest addition by the Howard Smith Company, limited, to their passenger fleet, was built by Sir James Watson & Co., Ltd., Glasgow, and is intended for the intermediate passenger service of the company, and special attention has been given to her construction so as to ensure her speed, which will be about 10 or 12 knots. The vessel will be about 100 feet long, 25 feet beam, and 10 feet depth. She is to carry a cargo of between 2000 and 3000 tons, and will have four funnels, the diameters being 20 in., 20 in., 20 in., and 20 in. respectively.

The vessel is fitted with refrigerating machinery and with electric light. She is estimated to cost £25,000. The vessel is to be delivered for her construction, varying in amount to the extent of £25,000.

DALGETY AND COMPANY.

LONDON, Oct. 31.

The annual report of Dalgety and Co., Limited, recommends the payment of a dividend of 5 per cent. A sum of £50,705 is carried forward.

THE HUNGARIAN MINISTRY.

COUNT S. TISZA SUCCESSFUL.

LONDON, Oct. 31.

Count Stephen Tisza has formed a Ministry in Hungary. He has ended the protracted dispute concerning the offering of arms to the army, the Liberals have accepted the compromise which has been arranged chiefly by the Emperor Francis Joseph conceding most of the National demands.

Count Stephen Tisza defends the right of the Crown to fix the language of command in the army.

The Ministerial crisis in Hungary, now at an end, had lasted since the middle of June, and was caused principally by proposed changes in the constitution of the Hungarian Ministry. Count Tisza, who had been Premier, had resigned, and the Emperor Francis Joseph had appointed Count Tisza to form a new Ministry.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

A REVIEW OF TRADE.

ADELAIDE, Sunday.

The general features of South Australian trade during 1902, briefly stated, were as follows:—Decrease of total trade, £1,618,131; decrease of total imports, £1,297,304; decrease of total exports, £1,618,131; decrease of total exports, £1,297,304; decrease of total exports, £1,618,131; decrease of total exports, £1,297,304.

The public activity, in his financial report, the quinquennial, declares some friendly societies, as at December 31, 1899, to be in almost a hopeless position through the inadequacy of the funds of the Australian Native Association is at the head of the sound and in the only friendly benefit society with a surplus.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA.

PERTH, Sunday.

In the Arbitration Court of Western Australia, to-day, a decision was given in favor of the reduction of hours of labor from 8 1/2 to 8 hours per week, by the millers of the Karri and Jarrah Forests, Limited.

The arbitrator, Mr. J. H. G. Giffen, in his decision, stated that the proposed reduction of hours would not be a hardship on the millers, and that the company owned it, and employed 200 men, and the men did not increase the rate of cutting, and the millers did not maintain the rate of production of hours asked for would mean the loss of £20,000 per annum to the company.

at length with recent leading deviations in the English Church, and said that the Taff Vale judgment was much envained by the liberally established expression of a very old judicial doctrine of common law. The case of Quins versus Leatham, which was well known in the legal world, had introduced, or at all events authorized, certain novel readings of the common law, and he thought those in the first instance, that leaders of unions and their friends now needed the protection of the common law as it existed in outline. The nature of the proposals in Mr. Wills's bill, and pointed out that the power in the hands of the Government, and the imperative importance of having the bill passed, were the main points in his conclusion of his address; a vote of thanks was accorded to the lecturer.
